*We take the time to repair broken things instead of buying new ones.
We want to break out of the vicious circle of perpetual consumption.*

The RepairCafé is a do-it-yourself workshop for fixing broken things like electrical and electronic devices, toys, furniture or other household items as well as clothing. We invite people to repair anything that is too valuable to just throw it away.

Our guests can put their hands on things themselves or get help from people with the proper skills and qualification. While drinking coffee and having a little snack, we cannot only have interesting conversations, but also learn a lot from each other.
